REPORT.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

The preceding pages give a resume of the work of the Department of Internal Affairs, including its several Bureaus, for the year ending November 30, 1902. A comparison with the reports of other years will show that there has been a marked increase in the work of nearly all the branches of the Department, especially in the Land Office Bureau. One cause for the increase of work in this Bureau has been the establishment of a Forestry Reservation Commission, which has made large purchases of mountain lands for the purpose of forestry preservation and forest culture. In the examination of titles incident to these purchases it has been necessary to make copies of the original records, and in cases where the title had not been completed from the Commonwealth, new applications have been made and patents granted. Another cause has been the great activity displayed in the purchase of lands for the purpose of mining coal. Large syndicates have been formed and hundreds of thousands of acres of land have been purchased in the bituminous coal region. In the examination of the titles it has been found necessary to begin at the inception of the title from the Commonwealth and trace the chain down to the person from whom the lands have been purchased.

In this connection it is proper to say that the year closes with the Department located in what was formerly known as the Bay Shoe Factory Building, a poorly constructed, unsafe building situated on the north side of State street, near the bridge that spans the tracks of the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia and Reading Railways. About the middle of November the Department was informed that it must vacate the old land office building which it had occupied since the formation of the Department in 1874, and which the Land Office had previously occupied for nearly a century. The building contained the most valuable records of the Commonwealth, those pertaining to the titles of all the land within the limits of the State. These records consist of original applications made as far back as the days of William Penn, and his successors, the Proprietaries of the Province of Pennsylvania, down to the present time. They also include the vouchers, books of accounts, warrants, surveys, records of patents, records and proceedings of the Board of Property. The warrants and surveys were kept in iron cases, with corrugated iron doors, built in the thick brick walls of the building. They were therefore as well protected from fire as they could be with the safeguards available at the time the cases were constructed. Before any notice was given the Department regarding the time of removal, the Capitol Commission or the Commission of Public Grounds and Buildings, or both jointly, had selected the shoe factory as the temporary quarters for the Department of Internal Affairs and other departments of the State government. The other departments assigned to this building are under the supervision of executive officers appointed by the Governor, the Department of Internal Affairs being the only one whose chief officer is elected by the people. As soon as it was known that the Department of Internal Affairs was to be located in the Bay Shoe Factory Building, I filed a statement with the Governor protesting against the removal of the valuable public records to a place so hazardous. The building is surrounded by structures of an inflammable character. Across a narrow alley is the lumber yard of the Hickok Manufacturing Company, to the northwest is a long row of delapidated frame houses, and immediately to the north is a manufacturing establishment. On the east is an open space, but just beyond is a storage building and the railroad tracks. While the walls of the building are brick, there are numerous doors and windows that expose it to great danger by fire. The shutters are of thin, narrow boards, and if a fire should break out in the lumber yard or any of the adjacent structures, they would be of very little protection. A more hazardous place for the storage of the State records could scarcely have been selected. The condition of the building, and the vicinity in which it is located, induced me to search for a more suitable place. I also addressed the following communication to the Governor:

October 10, 1902.

Hon. William A. Stone, Governor, Harrisburg, Pa.:

Dear Sir: I acknowledge receipt of notice from Mr. Gerwig, Secretary of the Capitol Building Commission, that temporary quarters will be assigned this Department in the building known as the Bay Shoe Factory, situated on East State street near the canal.

In the absence of General Latta, Secretary of Internal Affairs, to whom the above communication was addressed, I beg to make reply and to ask for its careful consideration by not only yourself, but by the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings.

In several communications addressed to your Board with reference to fireproof apartments in the new Capitol building and also in the temporary quarters in which this Department will be housed during the construction of the Capitol, an effort was made to impress upon you and your Board the necessity for providing the most secure apartments possible, in order that the hazard of destruction by fire of the records of the department might be reduced to a minimum. It may seem out of place to add anything to what has already been said on the subject, but I beg respectfully to suggest that from the time William Penn was appointed sole proprietory of the Province of Pennsylvania, down to the present time, the records that relate to the administration of the Land Office, including applications, warrants, surveys, returns for patenting, the records of the patents themselves, and other important papers, have been kept in the Land Office Bureau of this Department. There is not a foot of land held by any person, firm, association or corporation within the confines of the State of Pennsylvania that is not referred to in these official papers, and, as a lawyer, you will readily understand that their loss would be irrepairable. There is no possible way of measuring the magnitude of the loss that would be sustained by the Commonwealth in the event of their destruction. That they have been preserved to the present time is indeed remarkable, and I submit that there rests an imperative duty upon the officials of the Commonwealth to do everything possible to decrease the hazard of loss.

I have visited the place said to have been assigned to this Department in the Bay Shoe Factory building, and do not think it possible that the members of your Board could have examined the building and considered the location, or they would never have selected the place for the storage and care of public documents. I respectfully protest against removal to the building in question, because,

First. It is in a section of the city where fires most frequently occur. There is a lumber yard in close proximity to it, and also other buildings of an inflammable character. To remove the public documents to such a place is to invite their destruction.

Second. The papers not only of the Land Office, the most sacred in the possession of the Commonwealth, but all the other records of the different bureaus of the Department, are almost constantly in use, and in a locality such as that where the Bay Shoe Factory is located they would be greatly damaged by the smoke, dust and other kinds of dirt that predominate. In other words, the papers should not be handled under such conditions as exist in and around the building referred to.

Third. The records pertaining to the Land Office Bureau are now in solid iron cases in this Department. The cases have a height of about fifteen feet, and they could not be moved into the shoe factory building, as the first story of that building has an elevation of only eleven feet between the floor and ceiling. So with the other records of the Department. They are in either metallic or walnut cases that are fourteen or fifteen feet high, and which could not possibly be placed in the shoe factory.

Fourth. I submit in all fairness that to send any of the State Departments into a locality such as that of East State street is not in harmony with the dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Certainly no member of your Board would desire or consent to have a department over which he presided located in a neighborhood so unsafe, so unhealthy and so disreputable as that to which it is proposed to assign this and other departments of the State government.

In the absence of General Latta, and in behalf of the welfare of the officers and employes of this Department, and especially on account of the preservation of the valuable records deposited here, I beg to ask that your Board will not under any circumstances insist upon the removal of the Department to the Bay Shoe Factory building.

After my first conference with you more than two months ago, and a second conference two weeks ago, I made search for suitable quarters for the Department, and have practically secured the refusal of rooms in the Russ building in Market Square. On the third floor is a hall 150 feet long by about fifty feet wide, well lighted and having an altitude of over thirty feet between floor and ceiling. It has two small rooms at the back end, and on the second floor three or four additional rooms for offices could be secured. This place can be secured for a reasonable rental, and the expense of making the few changes necessary would be insignificant. The building is so constructed as to insure reasonable protection against fire.

I therefore ask that you and the Board of Public Buildings and Grounds will reconsider your action with reference to the temporary location of this Department and examine into the propriety of locating us in the Russ building in Market Square.

I am, very respectfully yours,

ISAAC B. BROWN,
Deputy Secretary.

The following is the Governor's reply to my letter:

Executive Chamber,

Harrisburg, October 11, 1902.

Major I. B. Brown, Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, Pa.:

My Dear Sir: I have your favor of the 9th instant. The Capitol Commission has been searching for floor space for the departments now occupying the two old brick buildings for sometime. Mr. Bailey, a member of the Capitol Building Commission, and resident here, has had the matter in charge in connection with Mr. T. L. Eyre, and after a good deal of investigation they finally settled on the Bay Shoe Company property as being a building of sufficient size to house the different departments, not only those in the old brick buildings, but those now in the new Capitol building. Mr. Houston, the architect, together with Contractor Messrs. Geo. F. Payne & Co., and Mr. Eyre and Mr. Bailey, carefully investigated the Bay Shoe Company's building and reported that in their judgment it was the best proposition and in fact it was the only proposition then before the Commission. The Board of Public Grounds and Buildings were then requested to effect a lease for this property for three years with permission of four years at a rental not to exceed $2,500 per annum. The Board of Public Grounds and Buildings succeeded in obtaining this lease and a resolution was passed to execute it, which was formally done. We now have the building on our hands under a contract to pay rent and the architect of the Capitol Commission is arranging for new floors and partitions to suit the convenience of the occupants of the old brick buildings. I am quite sure that any suggestions that will be made by the departments now occupying the old brick buildings as to division of floor space will be carefully attended to. I do not see any other way of providing accommodations for the occupants of these old buildings and while I regret very much that it does not meet with your approval and the approval, I may say, of other occupants of the brick buildings, yet I do not think the Commission are to be blamed for doing the best that could be done under the circumstances. You will understand, of course, that it is important that the contractor be not delayed in his work by the State in any way and as the time for the completion of the Capitol Building is so short, we do not feel that we ought to trespass upon time by failure to give possession of the old buildings when they are ready for them. I will submit your letter to the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings and to the Capitol Building Commission at their next meeting.

I note what you say as to a suitable floor space in the Russ building, but I cannot see how we can now make any other arrangements than the one that has been made.

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM A. STONE.

This correspondence having been conducted during the absence of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, it was submitted to him upon his return and my action was approved. He said, however, that the power was vested in the Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings to remove the department wherever it might be deemed proper, and he therefore gave his consent to the removal to the Bay Shoe Company building, assuming that whatever risk might attend the removal of the public records to that place would rest upon the Commissioners and not upon the Secretary of the Department. The Department was hurriedly dispossessed of the old land office building, its records and furniture were tumbled into the new location, and the work of classification, adjustment and location were at once commenced. So far as the inconvenience, discomforts and unhealthiness of the place are concerned, it is not necessary to say anything in the report of the department, but certainly to place officials and employes of the State Government in such a place is not compatible with the dignity of the Commonwealth. The depositing of the valuable records in a place so unsafe and so unfitted is, however, the important thing, and is an exhibition of disregard of public duty that is truly remarkable. It is evident that the question of location did not have proper consideration by those having the matter in charge, and their action is little less than a crime against the Commonwealth.

I desire to place myself on record as utterly opposed to the location, and also to state that everything was done that could be done by me to prevent the action. It may be proper to say that since the department was located on the first floor of the Shoe Factory Building in November, Governor Stone visited the department and seeing the conditions of affairs, gave directions that a steel vault should be built as speedily as possible within which the land office records might be stored. He seemed anxious to relieve the situation, and I told him that had he, as a lawyer, made careful examination of the location, the removal would not have been made to so dangerous location. He directed me to advise the Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings as to the amount of space the land office records would require in the new vault. This was done immediately, as indicated by the following letter:

November 24, 1902.

Mr. T. L. Eyre, Superintendent Public Grounds and Buildings, Harrisburg, Pa.:

My Dear Sir: I respectfully beg to refer to the conversation held in this Department Friday, November 21, with the Governor, yourself and others, relative to the building of fire proof vaults for the land office records in this Department, and in compliance with the request of the Governor, I sumbit herewith a statement of the space in the proposed fire proof vault necessary for the proper care of the land office records. There should be space for 3,480 pigeon hole boxes each four inches by seven and one-fourth inches and ten inches in depth, equal to a surface area of 724 square feet; fifty-four pigeon hole boxes four and three-fourth inches by eight inches and eleven inches in depth, equal to a surface area of fifteen square feet.

Also space for patent records sixteen and one-half feet long and four feet high and eleven inches in depth, equal to a surface area of 68.64 square feet; and for same records sixteen and one-half feet long by one foot eight inches in depth, equal to a surface area of 30.20 square feet.

Also space for Board of Property Records nine feet long by eleven and one-half feet high and thirteen inches deep, equal to a surface area of 13.50 square feet.

Also space for land office account books, day books, journals and ledgers, ten feet and six inches long by nine feet and ten inches in height by one foot and two inches in depth, equal to a surface area of 102.71 square feet. This makes a total surface area for the records of 954.05 square feet.

I do not know what the purpose of your Board may be with reference to the pigeon holes, but if metallic cases could be provided of such a character as to be made available in the vaults which I understand are included in the plans and specifications of the new building for this Department, it would be economy to have them placed in the temporary fire-proof vault.

To the estimate herewith given must be added the space that will be taken up by the partitions between the pigeon holes, the doors and other waste places.

Very truly yours,

ISAAC B. BROWN,
Deputy Secretary.

The construction of a brick building, with a thirteen inch wall, was commenced immediately north of and adjoining the shoe factory building. In this building will be constructed a steel vault, and it is hoped that in a few months the hazard which exists with reference to public records will be removed by having them transferred to the new building.

Supporting the suggestion already made as to the amount of space that would be required in the steel vault, the following letter was addressed to the Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings:

December 31, 1902.

Mr. T. L. Eyre, Superintendent, Public Grounds and Buildings, Harrisburg, Pa.:

My Dear Sir: As work has been begun on the vault that is to be used in part by this Department, I beg to ask that you will have the Commissioners make arrangements for suitable pigeon hole space and shelving in the vault for this Department. It will be impossible to take care of the Land Office records without space arranged as suggested. You will remember that I called attention to this in the letter in which I gave you a statement of the space required. To that letter I respectfully refer you.

Very truly yours,

ISAAC B. BROWN,
Deputy Secretary.

On account of the additional work imposed upon this department as the result of moving from the old building, the publication of this report has been delayed. It is now the eleventh day of February and practically nothing has been done about commencing work on the new Capitol, except to tear down the old land office building and the building occupied by the Adjutant General and other State Departments. All the work that has been done thus far in connection with these buildings could easily have been done in two weeks. It is apparent therefore that there was no necessity whatever for compelling the departments to move before spring. During this period abundant opportunity would have been given to secure suitable quarters for the different departments.

BOARD OF PROPERTY AND LAND OFFICE BUREAU.

In the summary of business done will be found the statement of the number of the applications filed during the fiscal year for vacant or unappropriated land, each application giving the number of acres applied for. The number of warrants granted in pursuance of these applications, the number of surveys returned and the number of patents granted is also given. In addition to the data referring to original titles from the Commonwealth that have had their inception during the fiscal year will be found a statement of the surveys returned on old warrants and the number of patents that have been granted on warrants issued prior to the beginning of the fiscal year. In many cases the warrants are very old, some of them at least one hundred years, and during all this time the title has remained open. The warrantee or those succeeding to his rights have the equitable right, but the legal title remained in the Commonwealth, subject to the preemption rights of the present owners. There are many thousand warrants outstanding covering valuable lands of the Commonwealth upon which surveys have been returned, but no patents granted. In addition to these there are thousands of warrants that have been granted upon which no returns of survey have been made, and probably in many cases valuable properties are held by very frail title.

Where a warrant has been granted and no return of survey made for a period of seven years the land sought to be covered by such warrant is open to application, warrant and survey, the same as if no warrant had ever been granted. How long such frail evidence of title will remain is conjecture, but it is certain that those who claim rights by virtue of such unreturned warrants ought to have their titles completed at the earliest day possible. The act of 1897 imposed upon the Secretary of Internal Affairs the duty of collecting the amounts due upon these unpatented lands, but the act was so modified by a subsequent act that any person owning rights under warrants, whether returns had previously been made or not, could have patents granted upon the payment of fees of $15. The result of this legislation was that millions of dollars were voted away which should have by right and equity been paid to the Commonwealth. There is little reason why ninety-five per cent. of the purchasers of land from the Commonwealth should be required to pay the full amount of purchase money, and the other five per cent. pay only the insignificant sum of $15. The act, however, was passed by the legislature, and must be executed. However, it would cost the State more than an average of fifteen dollars in each case to search out the owners of unpatented land and collect from them the fifteen dollar fee. The policy therefore has been since the passage of the act aforesaid to ascertain the ownership of unpatented lands and to notify the parties of the desire of the Commonwealth to close out their accounts and grant patents in order that the title might be completed from the Commonwealth to the present owners of the land.

During the year covered by this report there have been filed in this Department applications for vacant lands as follows:

COPYING OF SURVEYS.

Fair progress has been made during the year in the copying of surveys as authorized under the provisions of the act of 1833. It is unfortunate for the Commonwealth that this work was not completed many years ago, for the multilation and decay of these ancient records has been going on for so many years that in many cases the data contained in these papers cannot be reproduced. There has been no little expenditure of energy and effort to advance the work required by the act referred to. The summary of the work done by the department will show the number of surveys copied during the fiscal year. The number would have been much greater had there not been such an increase in the transient work of the department which demanded the services of the draftsmen of the department. In answer to a communication addressed by the Governor to this department under date of January 26th, his attention was called to the condition of these records and to the necessity for making provision by the present legislature for the completion of the work of copying them. The portion of our letter having reference to these records was as follows:

There are about 250,000 surveys which should be copied into books, for two reasons, first, to preserve the data they contain, and second, to prevent the handling of these old land office records that are rapidly becoming mutilated and going into decay. I have not thought it advisable to suggest a law for the permanent employment of draftsmen, but recommend that an appropriation be made so that eight or ten additional draftsmen may be employed on this important work, to the end that these valuable records may be preserved and cared for. If you will turn to the act of 1833, you will find sufficient authority, I think, for having an item put into the General Appropriation Act that will enable this department to have executed the work contemplated by that act. In that act the surveyor general, whose duties have since been imposed on the Secretary of Internal Affairs was directed to copy these records. Of the more than 250,000 surveys about 50,000 have been copied, nine-tenths of which have been copied during the time I have served as Deputy Secretary. I have pushed the work as rapidly as I could, but the force of the office is so constantly employed with transient work that it is impossible to devote as much time to the copying of these records as the necessity of the case demands.

I should be glad if you could be relieved from your other duties for an hour or two sometime that I might have an opportunity of showing you these records, for I am sure that with your knowledge of the land office records covering the period from the days of William Penn to the present time you would at once see the merit of the suggestion I have made. The act of 1833 gives sufficient authority to answer all legal requirements, as I understand it, to enable the legislature to put an item in the General Appropriation Act. It is my earnest desire that during the four years for which I have been elected to the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs every one of these surveys shall be copied. It is utterly impossible for me to do it with the present force I have. If my suggestion is carried out, it will avoid the necessity of establishing places in the department of a permanent character, for when the work of copying the records is finished the services of the draftsmen can be dispensed with. The clerkships in this office are $1,400 a year, and I think the services of experienced draftsmen ought to command a compensation of $1,500, and I therefore earnestly suggest to you that you favor an item in the General Appropriation Act by which I may be able to secure the necessary draftsmen to accomplish the work herein referred to. I respectfully ask you to weigh these words. There is no work in any department of the State government that appeals so strongly for favorable consideration as that to which I refer. This idea of the case is probably accentuated when it is known that all the valuable records that relate to the Land Office of Pennsylvania have been dumped into this fire-trap of a building, with lumber yards and buildings of an inflammable character all around it, and no adequate protection.

It is not urged that a bill be passed creating additional clerkships for the department, but that authority be given under the provisions of the act of 1833 to employ at least ten draftsmen, who together with those already employed, may do a great deal towards the completion of this work in the next four years during my term of office. It is my purpose to submit to the Appropriation Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives the condition of these records and ask that an item be placed in the General Appropriation Act based upon the provisions of the act of 1833 that will enable the department to proceed with this work. Notwithstanding the amount of transient work done by the draftsmen during the past year surveys have been copied as follows:

J. S. Wall, 132 large surveys.

J. U. Gill, 580 small and 120 large surveys.

J. H. Campbell, 256 small surveys.

W. H. Lewis, 380 small surveys.

R. O. Struckenrath, 520 small surveys.

Blanche E. Butler, 760 small surveys.

The act of 1897 which relates to the patenting of lands in or along navigable rivers has been a troublesome piece of legislation, for two reasons, first, because it seems to be in violation of that public policy which requires that the title to the beds of navigable rivers shall never be disposed of to individuals, firms or corporations, but shall always be held by the Commonwealth as a means of preserving more effectually the rights of the people in conducting commerce and navigation; second, because the act is coached in such ambiguous language and its meaning so obscure and uncertain that it is sufficiently defective to be a subject for repeal. If such legislation be considered essential to the public welfare, an act embracing plan and wholesome provisions should be placed on the statue books instead of this act of 1897. Believing that this act is in violation of public policy, a bill has been prepared and placed in the hands of Senator H. H. Cumings, of Forest county, with the request that it be introduced with a view of repealing the act of 1897.

AN ACT

To repeal an act entitled "An act in relation to patenting lands lying within or along navigable rivers."

Whereas, Public policy imperatively demands that the title to the beds of rivers of the Commonwealth which have been declared public highways, should not be disposed of to individuals, but should remain permanently in the Commonwealth as the best means for the protection of commerce and the securing of unobstructed navigation therefore,

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly, met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the act approved the 15th day of July, A. D. 1897, pamphlet laws, page 301, entitled "An act in relation to patenting lands lying within or along navigable rivers," be and the same is hereby repealed.

About the usual number of cases has been placed at issue before the Board of Property during the past year. The questions presented to the board for determination are those relating to the law of location, the relative rights of junior and senior warrants, junior and senior surveys, improvement or preemption rights, defects in title, and defects in patents.

All these questions involve in their adjudication intricate problems of law and that have demanded the most careful consideration and the best thought of the best jurists the Commonwealth has produced. The Board of Property is in session but once every two months. These sessions are hurriedly held, and it is impossible to devote the necessary time to the consideration of the problems that are raised. The time is so limited that the board is unable to make careful or well-considered deliverances on many of the questions brought before it for determination. For it is a fact that when the State grants its warrant or patent, it should be considered as a solemn act and never taken without great care. In support of this view of the duties of the Board of Property reference may be made to the fact that in some localities several warrants have been granted for the same tract of land. Besides the injustice done the purchaser of a portion of the domain of the Commonwealth, the granting of a second, third or fourth warrant for the same tract of land makes the act of the State ridiculous in the eyes of the people.

BUREAU OF INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS.

Under the Constitution of 1874, establishing the Department of Internal Affairs, it is provided that there shall be in this Department a Bureau of Industrial Statistics, the duty of which shall be to inquiry into the conditions of the laboring classes of the Commonwealth, and to make such recommendations as will tend to the improvement of their condition, and advance their interests generally. In addition to this constitutional provision the law of the Commonwealth require the collection of data which shall show the growth and annual condition particularly of the manufacturing interests of the Commonwealth.

The Annual Report of this Bureau is published as Part III of the Departmental reports.

BUREAU OF RAILWAYS.

Under the Constitution of 1874 and the act of 1874, annual reports are made to the Bureau of Railways by all steam railway corporations, street or electric railway corporations, canal companies, telegraph and telephone companies. These reports cover the fiscal year ending June 30, and embrace all information regarding the capitalization, bonded indebtedness, floating indebtedness, and current assets, together with data showing the mileage, the number of passengers carried, tons of freight carried, according to a detailed classification, receipts and expenditures, dividends paid, accidents, both fatal and non-fatal to passengers, employes and other persons.

This report is considered a valuable one by persons, firms or corporations directly or indirectly interested in the organization, management or operation of these corporations, or to those interested as investors in their stocks or bonds. The data presented in this report is the strongest evidence that can be adduced to show the prosperous condition of the State and Nation, and the rapidity with which the material interests of our Commonwealth are being devoloped. The figures denote the immensity of our freight traffic under the different classifications of commodities from the fields of agriculture, from the forests, the mines, manufacturies and other sources.

This report is published as Part IV of the Departmental reports.

BUREAU OF MINES.

In 1897 the Legislature passed an act creating the Bureau of Mines as one of the Bureaus of the Department of Internal Affairs. This Bureau has supervision over the Mine Inspectors in the different anthracite and bituminous regions of the Commonwealth. It seems to have been the opinion of the Legislature that some State officer should be given authority to supervise the mine inspectors in the several districts to the end that there might be some uniformity in their operations, and that positive knowledge might be obtained to show whether or not they were doing their utmost in the discharge of their official duties to secure the greatest possible freedom from accidents to the employes of the mines. The act as originally introduced provided that the Secretary of Internal Affairs should appoint the Chief of the Bureau of Mines in the same manner as the Chief of the Bureau of Industrial Statistics was appointed, but the Governor expressed a desire that the bill be made to give the Chief Executor the appointing power, and it was therefore amended accordingly.

It is a question whether or not the amendment to this act has not in a measure impaired its efficacy, for the Secretary of Internal Affairs is an elective officer, is directly responsible to the people for the proper performance of his duties, and therefore the appointment by the Governor of the head of a Bureau in the Department of Internal Affairs cannot be considered in any other way than as in a measure crippling the Secretary in exercising that discipline and power over his subordinates that he would otherwise exercise. No serious difficulty, however, has been experienced in the administration of the affairs of the Bureau, as whatever suggestions have been made by the Secretary have been cheerfully complied with by the Chief of the Bureau.

The Legislature at the session of 1901 provided that in future mine inspectors should be elected by the people in the different mining districts, instead of being appointed by the Governor. This is a doubtful piece of legislation, and may lead to no little dissatisfaction and confusion. As a plain proposition, it is safe to say that in a republican form of government the people ought to be trusted to do the right thing. This proposition is true in a general way, and a great General and President said on one occasion that the people could most always be trusted to do the right thing. This leaves an uncertainty, for by implication it may be assumed that sometimes the wrong thing will be done. If there shall be freedom from prejudice in the hearts of the voters, and a disposition to act fairly, the election of mine inspectors may be productive of good. It is hardly to be expected, however, that such conditions will always prevail, and as an eminent jurist recently said: "We may at sometime expect that mine inspectors will be elected who are better republicans or better democrates than mine inspectors."

In addition to this, the election of mine inspectors by direct vote of the people may cripple those in authority from exercising proper supervision over these officials.

The report of this Bureau shows the number of tons of anthracite and bituminous coal mined and transported during the year, the number of employes in both regions, and the number of accidents that occur during the year. The report of this Bureau is published as Part V of the Departmental reports.

BOUNDARY LINES AND BOUNDARY LINE MONUMENTS.

In the report of last year reference was made to the re-survey and re-location of the boundary line between Pennsylvania and Maryland. At the close of the present year the work is still unfinished, and therefore it is impossible to include in this report an account of the work done by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Commission which by agreement between the two States was charged with the execution of the work of re-surveying and re-locating the Mason and Dixon line.

The boundary line monuments between the States of Pennsylvania and New York were examined in 1900, and will probably be re-examined during 1903 by the joint action of the proper authorities in the two States.

The boundary line monuments between Ohio and Pennsylvania and West Virginia and Pennsylvania were examined in 1902, as is shown by the detailed reports of the examiners herewith. From these examinations it is found that a few monuments need attention and correspondence will be had with the proper authorities in the States of Ohio and West Virginia with a view of having the work done, in order that the monuments that are displaced or partially destroyed may be restored to the original location and condition.

Harrisburg, November 30, 1902.

To Major Isaac B. Brown, Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, Pa.:

Dear Sir: We respectfully make the following as our report of the examination of the boundary line monuments on the western line of the State, which monuments mark the location of the line between Pennsylvania and the States of Ohio and West Virginia. The examination was commenced on the fifth day of August, 1902, and continued until completed.

The investigation commenced with the monument on the lake road, near Lake Erie, at the northwestern corner of the State, and continued southerly to the southwestern corner of the State.

In making the report of these examinations, reference is had to the explanation as given on page 37 of the report on Pennsylvania and Ohio Boundary Lines, published in 1883:

"Each boundary monument consists of two blocks of sandstone, the underground mark and the surface mark. The first block is called the "Monument." The monument is 15x15x15 inches in size; it is buried entirely under ground two feet below the surface, and its position is on the State boundary without exception. On the upper side is cut two notches intersecting each other at right angles in the form of a cross. One notch points north and south and marks the State line; the other notch points east and west and marks the terminus of the mile. The surface mark is called the "Index." It is 12x12x36 inches in size, and set vertically on top of the monument, so that one foot of its upper end projects above ground, which is also cut to a uniform size of 12 inches square, the upper face being finished in a pyrmadial apex one inch high. The four sides of the index face the four cardinal points and each side bears an inscription —on the north side, the number of miles from the northern terminal monument, on the east side, the initial letter of Pennsylvania, on the west side the initial letter of Ohio, and on the south side the date of the resurvey, 1881. The upper face bears no inscription, but the center is indicated by the apex of the surmounting pyramid.

When, however, the index would stand in the way of public travel, it is not set on the monument, but stands twenty-five (25) feet either due east or due west from it. When such is the case the inscription 25F is cut on that side which faces the monument. 25F means that the distance from the center of the index to the State line is 25 feet. In setting the index, this distance was accurately determined, so that as long as the index remains in place, the position of the State line may be found at any time without uncovering the buried monument.

Sometimes the terminus of a full mile did not offer a favorable spot for setting a monument, in which case it was carried forward or back to a suitable situation, and the inscription on the north face of the index modified to express the full miles and fractional parts of a mile."

The condition of the monuments is set forth in the following statement it being understood that the monuments are in good condition except when otherwise mentioned in this report:

The marker on the north side of the Lake Road near Lake Erie is the starting point of the investigation. This monument seems to be the terminal monument of the survey of 1786. It is a flag stone, probably 3 feet square and 6 inches thick originally. It was found by the Joint Survey Commission of 1881 lying in the corner of a worm fence, 110 feet from the top of the bank of Lake Erie and 175 feet south of the water's edge. The ground on which it originally stood was many years ago washed away, causing it to fall down the bank of the lake. It was drawn up by the farmers owning the adjoining land, and placed where it was found by the Joint Resurvey Commission. It bears on its side the inscription placed there by the survey of 1786, viz: "Pennsylvania, 1786."

What is known as the northern terminal, or zero monument, was the next one examined. It is located 2,400 feet south from the shore of Lake Erie and was found in good condition. It is of granite, 6 feet high by 3 feet square at the base. Its position is on the west side of a highway in level, open country, and on the summit of a low, broad undulation, lying parallel with the lake shore. On the north side of shaft is the following inscription:

"Erected in 1881 by a joint commission appointed by the states of Pennsyl-nania and Ohio to re-survey and remark the boundary line as established in 1786."

On the east side of the base is inscribed—

"Pennsylvania."

On the west side—

"Ohio."

In the verticle axis of the monument, and on top of the sandstone foundation is inscribed a cross, one arm of which defines the State boundary, and the other marks the beginning of the first mile.

According to a report heretofore made with reference to this monument the geographic position of the same is—

Latitude, 41° 58′ 21.48″.

Longitude, 80° 31′ 18.17″ W.

Milestone 1. According to the report of 1883, the monument is buried 2 feet under the west side of a highway. The index stone, which is located 25 feet east of the monument, projects something like 1 foot above the surface. It is chipped on the northwest corner; defaced on the top by the letters "C. M." carved thereon; the letter "P" on the east side of this stone is changed to "B"; on the south side one of the figures "8" in the number denoting the year, 1881, is defaced, while the stone is leaning westwardly probably 10 degrees.

Milestone 2. The index stone stands upon the monument.

Milestone 3. The index stone stands upon the monument.

Milestone 4. The index stone stands upon the monument. It is in good condition except that the southeast corner is somewhat chipped. Beside this stone is found the old monument of 1786, called in the reports heretofore made, the "Culver Monument."

Milestone 5. The index stone stands upon the monument. All the corners are considerably chipped, and it leans a trifle to the west.

Milestone 6. The index stone stands upon the monument. The southeast and northeast corners are considerably chipped.

Milestone 7. The index stone stands upon the monument.

Milestone 8. The index stone stands 25 feet east of the monument. This is the last milestone in Erie county.

Milestone 9. The index stone stands 25 feet west of the monument. Its southeast and northwest corners are chipped. This is the first milestone in Crawford county.

Milestone 10. The index stone stands 25 feet east of the monument. Three of the corners are chipped.

Milestone 11. The index stone stands 25 feet east of the monument and is considerably chipped on north side.

Milestone 12. The index stone stands 25 feet east of the monument. Its northwest and southwest corners are chipped.

Milestone 13. The index stone stands 25 feet east of the monument. It leans badly to the east.

Milestone 14. The index stone stands 25 feet east of monument.

Milestone 15. The index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 16. The index stone stands on monument. It leans badly to the west.

Milestone 17. Index stone stands on monument. The figures are badly defaced, and the stone leans considerably to the east.

Milestone 18. The index stone stands on the monument. The northeast corner is chipped; the initial letter "O" on west side is mutilated, and the figures denoting the year "1881" are chipped.

Milestone 18½. The index stone stands upon the monument. This is in lieu of the nineteenth milestone, as shown by the Commissioners in their report, no monument having been set at the proper location on account of the bad condition of the land which is called a "shaking bog." The index stone extends only 8 inches above the ground, but is in good condition.

Milestone 20. The index stone stands on monument. It leans badly.

Milestone 21. The index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 22. The index stone stands on monument. Its northwest corner is chipped and it extends but 8 inches above the ground.

Milestone 23½. At the proper location of this monument, the original report shows the existence of a boggy swamp and no monument set at that location. A site was chosen one-eighth of a mile south from the proper location. The index stone stands on the monument.

Milestone 24. The index stone stands on monument. All its corners and the east side of stone are chipped.

Milestone 25. The index stone stands on monument. It leans about 45 degrees to the south.

Milestone 26. Index stone stands on monument. It has been quite badly mutilated, the northwest corner being broken so as to destroy the initial letter "M." The stone stands but 16 inches above the surface.

Milestone 27 (+ 264 feet). At the correct location for this stone, according to the original report the ground was found boggy and unsuitable for sustaining a monument. It was therefore located 264 feet south of its proper location. The index stone stands upon the monument. Its southeast and southwest corners are chipped.

Milestone 28. Index stone stands on monument. The southeast corner is chipped so far as to partially destroy the figures in the date number "1881." It stands but 16 inches out of the ground.

Milestone 29. The index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 30. The index stone stands on monument. Its southeast, southwest and northwest corners are chipped.

Milestone 31. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 32. Index stone stands on monument. It leans slightly to the east.

Milestone 33. Index stone stands on monument. It leans about 15 degrees. The east side and the northwest corners are somewhat chipped. This is the last milestone in Crawford county.

Milestone 34. The index stone stands on monument. It is the first milestone south of the northwest corner of Mercer county.

Milestone 35. The index stone stands on monument. It leans fully 45 degrees to the east.

Milestone 36. The index stone stands on monument. On the south side of this stone is marked "1881 November 23rd."

Milestone 37. The index stone stands on monument. It leans to the south and is not firm, being easily moved. It stands 22 inches above the surface.

Milestone 38. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 39. Index stone stands on monument.

An original monument of 1786, known in the report as Clark Monument, stands beside the index stone, with a cross on top and the initial letter of Pennsylvania on the east side and the initial letter of Ohio on the west side.

Milestone 40. The index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 41. The index stone stands 25 feet east of monument. Its southeast corner is chipped.

The State Line road is now crossed from the south of the 40th milestone to 510 feet south of the 42d milestone. South of the 41st milestone is the boundary monument on Trantman Hill. This monument is said to be 1,777 feet south of milestone 41. The index stands on the monument. On the south side of the stone are the initial letters as follows: "W. W. M." on the east half of the south side, and "P. M. B." on the west half of the south side.

Milestone 42. The index stone stands on monument. Its east edge is chipped.

Milestone 43. The index stone stands 25 feet east of monument. A picket fence is built over the index stone which is almost entirely underground.

Milestone 44. The index stone stands 25 feet east of monument. It extends only about 2 inches above the ground.

Milestone 45. The index stone stands 25 feet east of monument.

From the report of the Commissioners it appears that the original monument stood near the location of this milestone. It is said that in 1828 it was hauled away and built into the foundation of a barn. In 1881 the initial letter "P" was discovered engraved upon one side of it. It was a granite boulder weighing about one and a half tons. It is said to be in a pile of similar boulders some 500 feet southeast of the milestone. This observation is taken from the report of the Commissioners and not made from our investigations.

Milestone 46. The index stone stands on monument. All of its corners are chipped.

Milestone 47. Index stone stands on monument. This stone is on the edge of a highway, some 8 or 10 feet from road bed. It is driven over and nearly covered with earth. Its corners are chipped.

On Clark's Hill, south of milestone 47 is a boundary monument. The index stone stands 25 feet east, and near a highway. It is in good condition.

Milestone 48. The index stone stands 25 feet east of monument. Its southwest and northwest corners are chipped.

Milestone 49. The index stone stands on monument. The southeast corner is chipped to the extent of multilating somewhat the date, "1881."

Milestone 50. The index stone stands on monument. The initial letter in the word "Ohio" is mutilated, as is also the date "1881." The corners of the stone are chipped.

Milestone 51. Index stone stands on monument, and extends but 18 inches above the ground. All its corners and edges are chipped. Further south, on the north bank of the Shenango river, a sign was found on top of a post ten feet high, on the north side of which was "Pennsylvania State Line," and on the south side "Ohio State Line."

Milestone 52. Index stone stands on monument. It is on the south side of Shenango river.

Milestone 53. Index stone stands 25 feet east of the monument.

Milestone 54. Index stone stands on monument. It is on bank near the road bed. Its southwest corner is chipped.

Milestone 55. Index stone stands on monument. Its northwest corner is chipped.

Milestone 56. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 57. Index stone stands on monument. It leans slightly to the east and is in the center of a road and flush with the same. This road is nearly opened through to another road running east and west, beginning about 100 feet north of this stone.

Milestone 58. The index stone stands on monument, in the center of the road referred to in the observation regarding milestone 57.

Milestone 59. Index stone stands on monument. About 75 feet north of this stone, the line of an electric railway crosses the State line. This is the first stone in Lawrence county.

Milestone 60. The index stone stands on monument. Its northeast corner is so badly chipped as to destroy the figure "6" in the number "60."

Milestone 61. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 62. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument. This indicates an angle in the State line. It stands in a field, and its east top is badly chipped.

The original monument of 1786, was found 1,560 feet south of the 62d milestone, in good conditon. This is called the Shehy monument.

Milestone 63. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 64. Index stone stands on monument.

The monument set to mark the line of the Mahoning river valley was found in good condition, the index stone standing on monument.

Milestone 65 1-3. At the proper location of the 65th milestone, no monument appears to have been set, as the surface of the ground was not suitable. 1,760 feet south of the proper location is placed a monument, upon which stands the index stone.

Milestone 66. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 67. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 68. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 69. Index stone stands 25 feet east of monument.

An original monument reported to be 772 feet south of milestone 69 was found in good condition.

Milestone 70. Index stone stands 25 feet east of monument.

Milestone 71. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 72. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 73. Index stone stands on monument.

The original monument of 1786, referred to in the report of the Commissioners as being on the west side of a farm lane, was not found by us. We were informed by Mr. D. Koch, who owns the farm along the line, that this stone was used in the wall of his barn some years ago.

Milestone 74. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 75. Index stone stands 25 feet west of monument.

Milestone 76. Index stone stands on monument.

The stone mentioned in the report of the Commissioners as located 1,408 feet south of milestone 76, in a highway running east and west, was found in good condition.

Milestone 77. The index stone stands 25 feet west of monument. On its east side is marked $\frac{\text{"P"}}{25\text{F}}$. We were informed by the owner of the land that some years ago the monument was broken and the bottom part was bedded in the center of the road. The index stone is in good condition.

Milestone 78. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 79. Index stone stands on mounment.

The original monument of 1786, which the Commissioners report as located 387 feet south of milestone 79, was found in good condition.

Milestone 80. The index stone stands on monument. The initial letters of the words "Pennsylvania" and "Ohio" are somewhat mutilated by the chipping of the stone.

Milestone 81. Index stone stands 25 feet east of monument.

Milestone 82. Index stone stands on monument.

The original monument said to be located 374 feet south of milestone 82 was found. It is at the top of Booth Hill and is in good condition.

Milestone 83. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 84. Index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 85. Index stone stands on monument.

The original monument said to be located 415 feet south of milestone 85 was found at the top of Beatty Hill in good condition.

Milestone 86. The index stone stands on monument.

The original milestone was found south 2,270 feet from milestone 86. This is known in the report as the Hamilton monument. It is situated on the west side of a highway. It is nearly covered by the soil and is badly broken on top.

Milestone 87. Index stone stands on monument. It enjoys the distinction of standing on the slope of a hill that falls southeast into Purgatory Hollow.

Milestone 88. Index stands on monument.

2,665 feet south of milestone 88, stands an original monument. It is in a lane leading to Island Run and is in good condition. In one of the reports it has been called Fisher monument.

Milestone 89. The index stone stands on monument.

Milestone 90. (+ 1,320 feet). The proper location of the 90th milestone seems to have been unsuitable for the setting of a monument, and it was placed 1,320 feet south of the proper location. The index stone stands on the monument.

At a point 2,248 feet south of the proper location of the 90th milestone was found an original monument having the usual marks. It is called in the reports the Hood Monument. It was found in good condition.

Milestone 91. (+330 feet.) The proper point for the location of the 91st milestone, according to previous reports, was a deep hole gullied out in the bank of Little Beaver river, and was not suitable for a monument. Three hundred and thirty feet south of this point a milestone was found, the index stone standing on the monument.

Milestone $91\frac{3}{4}$. This terminal southern monument, on the north bank of the Ohio river, was found and was in good condition. This terminal monument is of Quincy granite, and is a duplicate of the northern terminal monument near the shores of Lake Erie.

This completed the examination of the monuments on the boundary line between Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The monuments south of Ohio, which located the line between Pennsylvania and West Virginia, were examined from the Ohio south to the southwest corner of the State, commencing with the first monument on the south bank of the Ohio and extending to the last monument in this line, but the condition of the monuments is here given commencing with the southwest corner of the State, as the milestones are numbered from the southwest corner, north to the Ohio.

The southwest corner stone of the State of Pennsylvania is a sandstone and stands 3 feet 6 inches above the surface. It is in every way in good condition. On the south and west sides of this monument are the letters, "W. V.;" on the north side are the figures "1883," representing the year when the line was surveyed and the monument set; on the east side are the letters "W. V." a dash, and the initial letter "P" of the word Pennsylvania.

Milestone 1. The first milestone north of the southwest corner of the State was found in good condition. On the south side is the figure "1" indicating that it is the first stone north of the southwest corner; on the west side the initials "W. V."; on the north side the figures "1883," and on the east the letter "P."

Milestone 2 6-10. This second stone north is marked as follows: on the south side "M. 2 6-10"; on the west side "W. V."; on the north "1883," and on the east "P."

Milestone 4. This was the next stone north that was found. It is marked on the north side "4M." and has the initial marks on the other sides.

Milestone 4 4-10. This stone bears the usual marks except on the north side where it is marked "4 4-10 M."

Milestone 6 7-10. This is the next milestone north found. On the south side it bears the figures "6 7-10 M." On the other side it has the usual marks. It was represented to us as standing upon the lands of McCloskey and Collwell.

Milestone 7 6-10. These figures appear on the south side of the monument and the monument is represented as standing on McCracken Hill.

Milestone 9. This stone was found, with the usual marks. It is represented as standing between the lands of Levi Phillips and Sickles.

Milestone 10 2-10. This was the next stone found. The land owners were represented to be Levi Phillips and John Fletcher.

A meridian stone was found standing nearby, east of the 10 2-10 milestone, which was marked on the north side "Meridian" and on the south side "1883."

Milestone 11 5-10. This stone has the usual marks. Supposed to be standing adjoining lands of Barney Wiley on the Pennsylvania side.

Milestone 12 5-10. This stone had the usual marks. The land on the Virginia side was said to be owned by John McGinnis.

Milestone 14 9-10. This was the next stone found and it has the usual marks. The owner of the land is represented to be F. R. Hewitt.

By the side of this stone, lying loose on top of the ground is an old original stone marked on one side with a big "P" and on the other side "V."

Milestone 16 6-10. This milestone has the usual marks and is said to be standing upon the lands of L. H. Gorby.

Milestone 18 9-10. This was the next stone found. The land upon which it stands is said to be owned by William Miller.

Milestone 20 1-10. This monument is said to be standing upon land of Mack Olenm.

Milestone 21. This stone bears the usual marks.

Milestone 22 1-10. This stone bears the usual marks. It is said to be standing on lands of one Southerland.

Milestone 25 9-10. This was the next milestone found. It bore the usual marks and was standing on land owned by Sam McNich. The top of the south side is chipped badly.

Milestone 26 7-10. This was the next milestone found. It bears the usual marks and stands on Tanner Hill.

What appears to be an original monument stands about 6 feet south of milestone 26 7-10. This stone leans badly to the west. It is marked "26. M."

Milestone 27 1-10. This stone is quite badly broken on the north side and notheast corner, so that nearly all of the figures "1883" have disappeared from the monument.

Milestone 28 1-10. This stone has the usual marks.

About 20 feet east of this stone a meridian stone was found.

Milestone 30 8-10. This stone is represented as standing on the farm of Arnold Lawton. The letters and figures are badly chipped, so much so as to make them almost illegible.

Milestone 32 5-10. This stone is represented as standing on land owned by one Mulholland.

A stone was found on the side hill extending about four feet above the surface of the ground, upon the northwest corner of which is marked a big letter "B," on the southeast corner the letter "O." We were informed by residents along the line that this represented a corner of Brooks and Ohio counties in West Virginia.

Milestone 33 7-10. This stone is represented as standing on the land of J. B. Forney.

Milestone 34 7-10. This stone is represented as standing on the farm of Mac Broom.

Milestone 37 8-10. This stone leans about 45 degrees to the south and needs attention. Meridian stone stands on top of hill about 3,000 feet south.

Milestone 39 1-10. This stone is represented as standing on land once owned by John Buckey.

Milestone 41 4-10. This stone is represented as standing on lands owned by the George Amspoker estate.

Milestone 42 8-10. The southwest corner of this stone is broken off. The broken off part contains the figure "4" in the number "42." The mutilation of the monument seems to have occurred recently. This stone is represented as standing on land of Robert Steen.

Milestone 44 1-10. This stone has the usual marks.

Some 16 feet east of this milestone, a meridian stone was found in a corn field. It is marked on the south side "Meridian" and on the north side '1883."

Milestone 45 5-10. This stone has been entirely removed from its proper location. It is entirely out of the ground and lying at the foot of an embankment of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company and at a point about 12 feet north of the sign board put up by the railroad company to indicate the location of the State line between Pennsylvania and West Virginia. It is estimated to be about 3,000 feet east of Collier station.

Milestone 46 1-10. This stone bears the usual marks.

An original monument was found about one-half mile north of milestone 46 1-10, located on a high hill.

Milestone 48 1-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 49 7-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 51 2-10. This stone is represented as standing on land owned by Reuben Freshwater.

Milestone 52 1-10. This stone leans badly to the west.

Milestone 52 8-10. This stone leans badly to the west and a part of the letter "M" marked on the stone was broken off.

Milestone 54. (+ 23 feet). This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 55 1-10. This milestone is located about 12 feet west of what was represented to us as the grave of an original owner of the land at this place, his land extending on both sides of the line. We were told by people living nearby that his name was Reddick, and that it was his request that he be buried on the line with his head in one state and his feet in the other.

Milestone 55 9-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 56 9-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 57 9-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 58 9-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 59 8-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 60 7-10. This milestone was found in good condition.

Milestone 61 6-10. This stone was in good condition.

Something like 1,000 feet south of this stone was found an original monument. It is located on top of a high knob.

Milestone 62 8-10. This stone was found in good condition.

Milestone 63 (+ 4,544 feet). This stone is 12x12, and extends about 12 inches above the surface. It stands two feet north of the old original monument which was found to be 6 by 18 and stands three feet above the surface. This original stone was marked on the east side with the letter "P," and on the west by the letter "V." It was located at the base of what was designated to us as River hill.

In the examination of monuments between Pennsylvania and West Virginia that is, to the south bank of the Ohio river, no data was furnished us to indicate the location of the monuments, and as they were not located at regular distances, that is at each successive mile, north from the southwest corner of the State, it necessitated a considerable amount of search to find them, and it is apparent that some of the monuments were not found.

In concluding this report, it is recommended that all monuments which are leaning badly or which have been displaced, be reset at the earliest day possible.

Respectfully submitted,

S. W. MOYER,
O. P. EATON,
J. C. WILSON.

PART II.

ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES.

BUREAU OF ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES.

Under the provisions of the act of 1874 (Pamphlet Laws page 193), county commissioners of the several counties of the Commonwealth are required to make out in tabular form, by assessment districts, a statement of all real estate both taxable and non taxable; also a tabular statement in which there shall be exhibited some of the classifications of personal property, such in particular as is taxed for State purposes, as money at interest.

Under the act of 1889 (Pamphlet Laws page 157) the county commissioners are also required to secure from township, city, ward and county officers full and complete returns showing the entire amount of taxes levied and collected or worked out upon public highways, which taxes are collected for the maintenance of county, city, ward, borough or township governments.

In the blanks furnished the county commissioners for returns under this act, the data are arranged with reference to the taxes collected for the support of the poor; the taxes collected for the construction and repairs of roads and bridges; the amount collected on personal property, occupations, trades, emoluments of office; the amount collected on the real estate of railroad corporations, and the amount collected on the real estate of corporations other than railroads.

In Part II, of this report, will be found the detailed statements as rendered by the several boards of county commissioners throughout the Commonwealth, and also consolidated tables and other tables showing deductions from the reports thus made by the county commissioners and compiled by this office.

Before considering the returns of the county commissioners for each county in detail, it may be proper to make some general observations with reference to the reliability of the data compiled under the provisions of the law referred to.

The number of taxables of each county is shown in the first column of assessment returns. In comparing the data returned for this year with the returns for past years on this subject, it will be found that there is a great disparity in the number of taxables returned for each succeeding year, and this fact gives rise to the belief that possibly there is not much care taken by the assessors in making accurate returns as there should be. When in a county it is found that for this year the number of taxables is very much less than for preceding years, it would indicate very clearly that either there was a mistake made in previous years in the returns, or that the assessors of that county for the year covered by this report, are not including all the taxables in making up the totals. There are few if any counties in the State where there is an actual decrease in the number of taxables, for the reason that the rapid development of material interests of the Commonwealth, the increase in population, the diversification of business interests of all kinds would have a tendency to increase the number of taxables rather than to decrease it.

In the number of acres of cleared and timbered land great discrepancies are also found, but there is undoubtedly a good excuse for the discrepancies that exist under these captions, for the reason that it is difficult to classify much of the land of the State as cleared and timbered land. Cleared land may properly be designated that which is used for farming purposes, and timbered land may be classified as lands upon which there are standing, in whole or in part, the primeval forests, or lands that have been set apart for reforestration, but where all the merchantable timber has been cut off and nothing is being done with reference to clearing the land for agricultural purposes, it is difficult to see how this land can be classified as either cleared or timbered land, hence the figures in the two or three columns of assessment returns showing the number of acres of cleared and timbered land, cannot be expected to indicate accurately the facts in the case.

Assessors are required to value all real estate in the Commonwealth no matter whether it is taxable or non taxable. They are also directed to value especially the real estate exempt from taxation and the real estate that is taxable. Under these three captions the returns are found in columns 4, 5 and 6 of the assessment returns. The figures that represent the value of real estate reported as exempt from taxation are probably furthest from the truth, for the reason that assessors too often neglect to pay any attention to church and other properties that are exempt from taxation, and the figures that show the amount of real estate exempt from taxation only show an insignificant part of the actual amount of such property within the confines of the State.

Under the caption of "Real Estate Taxable," it is presumed that all the real estate of the Commonwealth which is taxable is returned, but whether the returns give its actual value, as required by law, is another question. Indeed, there is no question about it. It is well known by all who have made a study of the valuation of real estate for purposes of taxation, that under valuation is the rule and that the total amount of real estate returned as taxable does not by any means represent or approach a true representation of the value of this species of property. It is all due to a spirit which too generally exists among owners of property (and likewise condoned by assessors) to evade an equitable burden of public taxation. It seems to be the desire of every property owner to have his property assessed at the lowest figure possible, that he may bear as small a share of the burden of the government as possible. If he can get the assessor to comply with his wishes then his purpose is accomplished. If all property could be assessed at 75 per cent. of its actual valuation, no harm would be done, and certainly none could be done if exact justice were manifested in the work of assessing properly and it were all returned at its full value. Then each property owner would only bear his equitable share of taxation. It must be admitted that if all properties assessed at $10,000 and subject to a five mill tax, are assessed at $5,000 and subject to a ten mill tax, the results are exactly the same so far as it concerns the amount of taxes paid by the owner of such assessed property. The evil exists in the reckless valuation of property for taxable purposes. The law that requires real estate to be assessed at its full value embodies the correct principle, and the only difficulty is in the execution of that law.

The boards of county commissioners of the several counties of the Commonwealth hold annual meetings. The subject which ought to be presented to them in their annual consultations is the assessment of real estate for taxation, based upon the requirements of law, to the end that all real estate in every county be assessed at its full value. The incongruities that exist have been often shown by the publications from this office, for in investigations made it has been demonstrated clearly that in some counties the real estate is assessed at less than 25 per cent. of its actual value, while in others it has gone over 75 per cent. A still more unjust condition is found where in the same county great discrepancies exist in the valuation of real estate. Much injustice is done by assessors in one district in a county assessing property at a lower value than the assessors in another district, for property in two such districts are subject to the same rate of levy, at least for taxes for the support of the county government, and one man can thereby be made to pay very much more for the support of the county government than his neighbor in an adjoining district can be required to pay on the same actual valuation of property.

For many years the office has discussed these problems of taxation. Possibly some good may have been accomplished; possibly there is an assimilation of ideas among county commissioners and boards of assessors with reference to a more equitable valuation of real estate for taxable purposes, however, it is apparent that there is much to do before the grounds of equity are occupied by all boards of county commissioners and all assessors in this work of valuation of real estate for taxable purposes.

The number and value of horses, mares, geldings and mules over the age of four years, and the number and value of neat cattle are also subjects about which many criticisms may be made as to the manner of assessments. Perhaps there is not so much difficulty as to the number of cattle returned as there is concerning their ages. As an animal of the species mentioned must be four years old before it is subject to taxation, it is probably a fact that needs no argument for support that horses and cattle are always kept very young, especially about the time the assessor comes around to make his enrollment. It is but another method by which men seem to justify efforts to escape their fair share of the burden of taxation.

Probably the same thing may be said, with equal force, with reference to the value of salaries and emoluments of office, and also to the amount of money at interest returned. Recent legislation has been affected to the end that there shall be complete returns of money at interest returned. Recent legislation has been effected to the end that there shall be complete returns of money at interest on bonds, mortgages, notes due, bills, etc. Conditions have been made very much better and yet it is apparent that a large percentage of the money at interest does not find a place in the returns of assessors, and therefore taxation is escaped.

The execution of the laws with reference to taxation is probably weakest in that branch which requires a full and complete return of the value of omnibuses, stages, hacks, cabs, etc. In some of the counties no returns whatever are made by either the assessors or the boards of county commissioners. The amounts usually returned are so entirely insignificant and so far removed from figures that would represent the actual value of this class of property, that a publication of them in a public report is ridiculous. Take for instance, the county of Dauphin, where the value of this class of property is placed at a little over $5,000. This amount can scarcely approach the value of property under this head which one good livery stable would own. Other counties have greater undervaluations. As before indicated, some have none at all. Conspicuous among the counties that make small returns or no returns at all is Lebanon. The total amount of the value of stages, omnibuses, hacks, cabs, etc., in that wealthy county are represented at $96.00. How flat, stale and unprofitable are returns of public officials which so far fail to make accurate returns of the conditions found in the several assessment districts of the Commonwealth.

Under the tabulation found in column 1 of the first division of the tabulated form covering the amount of taxes for different purposes,will be found the total amount of taxes collected in each county for the support of the poor. Looking at the aggregate it is found, that notwithstanding the prosperous times that exist, the cost of supporting the poor is more than $3,000,000. This expense seems to be fairly well distributed in the counties of the Commonwealth with reference to their population and the assessed value of taxable property.

In column 2 of this same tabulation will be found the amount of taxes collected for the construction and repairs of streets, roads and brides. In considering these taxes, as well as the taxes collected for the support of the poor, it must be remembered that in some counties the appropriations are made direct from the county treasury for the building of bridges and, in some cases, presumably for the extraordinary constructions in the way of streets and roads. So, in counties having poor houses, these poor houses are supported by an appropriation by the county commissioners direct from the county treasury, and the amounts used for the support of poor houses are not therefore derived from a levy made on personal and real estate.

In considering the returns from Philadelphia, it must also be remembered that there is but one tax levied in that county, which is co-extensive with the limits of the city, for all purposes, the levy being made to cover all the necessities of the city and county, and then the commissioners appropriate for different purposes the requisite amount of money for the support of the poor, the schools, streets, and all other expenses incident to the administration of the government.

Looking at the totals under the different heads of assessments and taxes, it is found that the number of taxables in the State is 2,022,273; the number of acres of cleared land returned is 16,631,653, and timbered land 8,771,713.

All real estate, including that which is taxable and non taxable, is appraised at $3,258,827,169; the value of real estate exempt from taxation at $328,144,389; real estate taxable at $2,930,682,780.

The number of horses, mares, geldings and mules over the age of four years is 604,370, and their value $26,744,363. The number of neat cattle over the age of four years is 637,768, and their value $12,355,352.

Salaries and emoluments of office, posts of profit, professions, trades and occupations are valued at $134,252,446, and the aggregate value of all property taxable for county purposes is given at $3,104,055,631, from which the aggregate amount of county taxes, $23,063,025.28 is derived.

The total amount of money at interest, including mortgages, judgements, bonds, notes, stocks, etc., is reported to be $814,271,329 and the value of stages, omnibuses, etc., at $618,987.

The aggregate amount of property taxable for State purposes, including money at interest, is $814,890,316, and the aggregate amount of State tax assessed $3,259,534.71.

The total amount of all county debts of the State is $60,074,724.41.

The tax collected and appropriated for the support of the poor in the State amounts to $3,127,310; of this amount, $765,676 are expended in the city of Philadelphia alone, while in the county of Allegheny $403,211 are thus expended. In some counties the amount of the tax collected for the support of the poor is trifling. Mifflin county collects for this purpose only $4,646, and Fulton $2,431.

Ten million seven hundred and twenty-three thousand eight hundred and eighty-three dollars represents the total amount of money collected and appropriated for the construction and repairs of streets, roads and bridges. Of this amount $3,000,000 are appropriated in the city of Philadelphia, and $701,220 in the county of Allegheny. Lancaster county appropriates for this purpose $331,047 and Montgomery $442,567.

The taxes collected throughout the State during the year covered by this report, for the support of the common schools, amount to $15,669,435. If to this be added the amount appropriated by the State legislature in aid of common school education, it would be found that the total amount provided for common school education would be something over $21,000,000 per annum. With this large expenditure of money for educational purposes it would seem that there ought not to be room for illiteracy in Pennsylvania. It will be seen that about one-third of the total amount collected and appropriated in the different counties of the State for the support of common schools is appropriated for that purpose in the city of Philadelphia, where the amount is $5,308,075. In Allegheny county the amount is $1,958,287.

The amount collected for the maintenance of the county government and for other purposes, not including the support of the poor, schools, streets, roads and bridges, is $28,477,013, while the total amount collected for all purposes is $57,997,643.

It is understood, of course, in considering this amount, that it only includes such taxes as are collected through local channels of collection, and does not embrace taxes collected through the Auditor General's Department of corporations that are subject to the five mill tax upon capital stock and the four mill tax on bonds. Neither does it include the eight mill tax upon the gross receipts of steam railway corporations. Such taxes as are collected through the Auditor General's Department do not appear in the reports of this office, but are found in the annual report of that Department.

Under classification of the subjects of taxation that have yielded the taxes above mentioned, the report discloses the fact that there has been collected on personal property the sum of $3,640,237, and on occupations $2,976,962.

Of the different classifications of licenses, the amount collected through local channels is reported as $6,766,095; this includes the money derived from licenses for the sale of liquor.

The real estate of local corporations, when an essential for the use of such corporations in performing their functions as common carriers, is subject to local taxation in addition to the tax upon such property that is derived through its capital stock and loans. The returns show that the taxes collected upon such real estate of railway corporations amount to $890,460; and the taxes collected on the real estate of other corporations than railroads, including limited partnerships amount to $5,776,885.

For a detailed report of assessments and taxes according to the classifications arranged, attention is called to the consolidated tables found in Part II of this report. The details may be found under all these classifications, in each assessment district of the Commonwealth, and the consolidated tables show the classification of each county by itself.

Attention is also called to the deductions that are made from these tabulations, especially to the deductions made from the amount of taxes collected for different purposes, including those collected for the support of the poor, for the maintenance of streets, roads, bridges, etc., also those collected for the support of the schools, for county, and for other purposes. A table has been arranged showing the per capita of taxes collected for the support of the poor in each county. It is admitted that this tabulation does not give information of a valuable character. For instance, the county of Cameron shows a per capita tax for the support of the poor amounting to $1.02, from which it would appear that the taxes in that county for the support of the poor are exceedingly heavy. When, however, it is considered that it is a very sparsely settled county; that it has comparatively few farms; few villages, and no cities, and that the lands within the limits of the county are generally wild lands and owned by parties not residents of the county, it will readily be seen why it is that the per capita tax is high, not only for the support of the poor and for schools, but for all other purposes. Similar conditions exists in other counties where the population is not large and where much of the territory within the counties is let by land syndicates, so in some cases it must be expected to find the per capita high. But this does not mean that the individual residents of Cameron or any other county where such conditions exist, pay a high per capita amount of tax; it simply shows on the paper as a high per capita tax for the reason that this taxation is based upon the census of 1900, and while there are large bodies of land owned in the county, yet the people owning them are not residents of the county, but pay taxes for the support of the poor, schools, streets, roads, bridges, and for other purposes.

Similar observations may be made with reference to per capita taxes collected for the construction and repair of streets, roads and bridges, the per capita tax collected for the support of schools, and for other purposes, and the total per capita tax collected for all purposes.

In addition to these statistics based upon a per capita basis, another statement will also be found as the second division of deductions from taxes collected, in which is shown the percentage of the amount of taxes collected for each purpose to the total amount of taxes collected. A percentage system seems to be the fairest basis upon which to make comparisons, and in this table of percentages, there is information for all who may desire to make a study of the equity or lack of equity which exists in our system of public taxation.

Just at this time there is much discussion about the salaries paid to teachers in the several counties of the Commonwealth, therefore the figures that indicate the percentage of taxes collected for the support of schools to the total amount of taxes collected for all purposes, are an interesting study. For instance, in Adams county the percentage is 32; that is, of the 100 per cent. collected for all purposes, 32 per cent. is collected for the support of schools. In Allegheny county the amount is 16 per cent.; in Armstrong 29 per cent.; in Fulton 25 per cent.; in Juniata 20 per cent.; in Lackawanna 41 per cent.; in Dauphin 43 per cent.; in Westmoreland 40 per cent., and so on ranging all the way from 16 per cent. in Allegheny to 43 per cent. in Dauphin county.

There should be greater uniformity in facilities for education in the counties of the Commonwealth. So long as the State is paying so much for educational purposes, it seems proper that the State should exercise some supervision over the expenditure of the moneys appropriated for school purposes, so that a child in one county or one township of a county should derive as much benefit from the appropriation made from the State Treasury as a child in any other township, or any other county of the State.

The State at this time seems to have a surplus of money in its Treasury, and many schemes have been devised by which portions of this money may be used to relieve local burdens of taxation, such as the improvement of public highways and the construction of bridges. These are commendable suggestions, but probably the improvement of public highways by the State will be found to be somewhat impracticable at least. In many localities of the State, excellent roads have been built by property owners adjacent thereto, and why these property owners, who in some way or other, pay taxes into the State Treasury, should be directly or indirectly taxed for the building of roads in localities where the property owners have not exhibited a great interest in the improvement of public highways, is hard to tell. Then, it may well be urged that in the present state of the Commonwealth when the taxes are exceedingly high, and streets have been paved at the expense of property owners, there can scarcely be any great degree of justice in a proposition that would compel them to pay for the improvement of public highways in some other portion of the State. In other words, the citizens of large municipalities would get little or no benefit from the expenditure of moneys in this way. This feature of the case is given more emphasis when it is known that most of the great corporations are domiciled in the larger municipalities, and that a large percentage of States taxes are derived from corporations so domiciled.

Looking at these problems that are presented for local improvements or for the relieving of local burdens of taxation, is it not better that the State devote whatever money it can spare from the State Treasury to the maintenance of State and charitable institutions, and let the balance go for educational purposes? The State is now expending five and a half millions a year for this purpose. Let this amount be increased so far as may be consistent with the financial condition of the State Treasury and then such supervision be given the School Department of the State and such regulations established, either by law or otherwise, as will insure equal facilities for education, at least so far as may be possible, for every child in the common schools throughout the State. No better way, no more practicable way for the State can be devised for the expenditure of the surplus money in the State Treasury than for educational purposes.

If there is a desire to relieve local burdens of taxation, or burdens of taxation locally, this would certainly be accomplished by increasing the amount of appropriation for the support of the common schools, and then those who are paying taxes in the rural districts will have more money to devote to other purposes, such as the construction, repairs and improvement of public highways.

What is most to be desired, having regard to the welfare and the perpetuity of the State, is that every facility for education that is possible or practicable, shall be furnished with uniformity to all of the children of the State. This is the surest way of securing intelligent citizens to manage the affairs of the State in the future and cope with the questions that arise in a republican form of government. It must be admitted that a republican form of government exists only through the loyalty of its citizens: that is, if its citizens are not loyal in their support of the republic, it will soon crumble and go into decay. Next to loyalty in the citizen is intelligence, that patriotism and loyalty may not be misdirected. If patriotism, loyalty and education can be made to go hand in hand in the care, education and control of the children of the State, there can be no fear for the future.

Why look for other opportunities for expending the surplus money in the State Treasury when the most meritorious object of all and the most beneficient purpose is in the direction of increased facilities for the education of the children of the Commonwealth, which may be had by increasing the appropriations to the common schools.

ASSESSMENT REPORTS.

The Following Returns made by the Commissioners of the several Counties of the Commonwealth, to the Secretary of Internal Affairs, for the Year 1902, Shows the Number of Taxables, the Number of Acres of Cleared and Timber Land, and the Amount at which all the Real and Personal Property, and the Matter and Things made Taxable by the Laws of this Commonwealth, were valued, and the amount of Taxes Assessed Thereon for State and County Purposes, In the Various Assessment Districts of the Commonwealth, made Pursuant to the Several Acts of Assembly Relating Thereto.

The occupation tax, which is known in Lancaster as poll tax, aggregates $9,393.50. The custom for many years has been to assess each married man, not a freeholder, 25 cents poll or occupation tax, and each single man, not a freeholder, 50 cents poll or occupation tax. This tax is levied directly, without putting a valuation on the taxpayer's office, trade or occupation, and is not included in the above aggregate of county tax.

The column designated "Aggregate value of all property taxable for county purposes, etc., means that full valuation of all property as returned by the assessor, this full valuation is divided by four (4) by the county commissioners for taxable purposes and on this division is figured the 8 mills.

Full valuation of property as returned by assessors, $125,493,908; divided by 4 for taxable purposes, $31,373,477; 8 mills on the latter value is $250,987.16, which is very near the amount returned on the schedule. The difference arises from the gain in the ½ cent which the county took advantage of in most instances.

To the above a valuation of $431,517 of unseated lands is added.

The poor are maintained as a county charge. The amount appropriated in 1901 by the county commissioners for their support was $42,000.

$19,288.33 was the amount expended by the county commissioners in repairs and construction of roads and bridges.

Uniontown borough does not levy a borough tax for the construction and repairs of streets, bridges, etc., the tax collected from hotel licenses being sufficient to construct the same.

The poor are maintained as county charges. There is no separate levy for poor purposes. The money for the maintenance of the poor is drawn from the county funds upon presentation of a monthly statement and requisition by the board of poor directors and countersigned by the county commissioners. The amount thus expended for the year last past is $86,900.49, which is included in the aggregate of columns 4 and 5.
